Professional Biography

Ed Whelan is the founding partner of Whelan Construction Law and practices in the areas of construction law, business litigation, and real property litigation. Ed is Board Certified by the Florida Bar in Construction Law and is AV Rated by Martindale-Hubbell ®. Prior to law school, Ed worked as an estimator and project manager for several mechanical contractors in the Washington, D.C. area.

Over the past 24 years, Ed has represented large and small business, as well as individuals, in active litigation/arbitration of construction and business disputes through trial, as well as advising companies/individuals in ways to avoid and/or mitigate construction/business disputes. This litigation/arbitration experience includes construction defect claims, delay claims, lien and bond claims, contract claims, insurance coverage disputes, licensing complaints, OSHA claims, bid protests, and inverse condemnation claims. Ed's pre-litigation/arbitration experience includes drafting and reviewing construction contracts and advising clients on how to proactively manage and mitigate claims on active projects.
